

Curly Strings

Raw acoustic energy and hauntingly beautiful melodies from Estonia! In our music Estonian lyrics and tradition meld with American string band influences to create a sound at once familiar, yet unlike anything you've heard before. The band's rise in the Estonian music scene in 2014 was a phenomenon unlike any other: a folk music artist becomes mainstream by collecting music awards and being the top seller in music stores for more than a year.

The new album "Hoolima" (Caring) is an exciting new chapter four our soundscape in which we sing about themes that are close to our hearts - and we welcome you to take them into your hearts too.

Eeva Talsi - fiddle, lead vocals

Taavet Niller – upright bass, vocals
Jaan Jaago – guitar, vocals
Villu Talsi – mandolin, vocals

Quotes

"Their enchanting feel for music and the mastery of instruments as well as vocals create a colorful soundscape that enriches

European bluegrass repertoire and broadens its spectrum."

European World of Bluegrass

"Estonian lyrics and tradition meld with American string band influences to create a sound at once familiar, yet unlike anything you've heard before." Casey Driessen

"These musicians are inspired by music from far away places but are deeply connected and informed by their own cultural heritage. I LOVE THAT!" Mike Marshall

"Powerful, but also tender. Standing ovations are a reward of this impressive performance." Badische Neueste Nachrichten

"Biggest surprise certainly were the Curly strings. The young band from Estonia sings in their mother tongue and spices their music with folk and jazz elements." Michael Müller, Baden Online
